Al@n  Question:
I need to improve my English vocabulary quickly. Does anyone have any good advice?

Leo7  Every time I read something on a website or in a magazine, I write down three new words. Then I try to use them in a conversation later in the day. This really helps me remember the words.

MinT  I write new words on flash cards and keep them in my bag. When I'm on the train going to and from work, I take the cards out and translate the English words into my language.

FranCo  Recently I've been using an online English–English dictionary to look up new words. It's really great because sometimes I learn new words when I'm reading the definitions of the words I'm looking up.

Gina10  I write sentences using new words in my notebook. Sometimes I draw pictures to go with the sentences. That helps me understand and remember the words.

JinB  I suggest studying with vocabulary workbooks. I buy them in bookstores or online. My English teacher recommended some really good ones. I do two pages every morning before I leave my house.
